Letter from Z Editor

by Hale Graves

There is something intoxicating about coming to the end of ones term of office. Sometimes it manifests itself in strange ways. At this moment I find myself wondering why it is that so few do so much for the club, and so many are unwilling to be of service to their fellow members. To be sure, every member is important to the Club, participating or not, but discovering a new face at the table would certainly be refreshing. (Frankly I'm sure that the present board is as tired of mine as I am of theirs.)

There are two conversational "taboo's" in social circles. One is religion and the other is politics. This newsletter is a form of conversation in relation to the Club. I am going to break both of those "taboo's" today.

I believe that if we were able to distill all religions of the world down to their most basic premise it would roughly equate to the "Golden Rule". This premise suggests that we do unto others as we would have them do unto us. Well, your board has been doing just that for two years. Now it is someone else's turn. So much for religion.

Politics, roughly defined, is where parties of people stand up and make promises (many unkept or unkeepable) to influence you to vote for "them". So far, this year, there are so few "them's" that promises are unnecessary.

* * UPCOMING EVENTS * *

Sept 9 Election of Officers. The election of officers will be held at the General Meeting.

Sept 20 Racing at Second Creek. Tentatively scheduled with other sports car clubs in the area. Finalized information will be available at the September 9th meeting at Govnr's Park.

GENERAL MEETING

This month's General Meeting will be held at Govnr's Park Restaurant located at 672 Logan Street (between Sixth and Seventh Avenues) in Denver. We encourage you to bring guests, but ask that you arrange to finish your meal before the meeting begins. The meeting will be called to order promptly at 7:00 p.m.

It is always nice to find out when you did a good job. Employers occasionally give bonuses to outstanding employees. Elected officials who do a good job are rewarded by being returned to office. Young people who apply themselves to their educational experience are often rewarded with scholarships.

When you are a long distance away from people who exemplified the Z spirit what do you do. I'll tell what we do, we thank them in print. So to the organizers and members of the Smokey Mountain Z Car Club, from those of our members who were privileged and able to attend the National Convention in Knoxville, Tennessee, and from all of us who could not be there, but wish they had, our thanks for a job well done, and thanks for the memories. Photographs of the convention will be found in this issue showing what an outstanding job you all did. Congratulations!!

And the Winners of the Estes Shine 'n Show are . . . . . .

240Z class - 1st place went to Larry Hutfles and his "Boysenberry Z".
280ZX class - 1st place went to Cynthia Gardner in her "Black Beauty".
300ZX class - 1st place went to Pam Bracken with her "new" Metallic Z.

Estes Park is beautiful any time of the year, but because of the rain we have had this year, it was particularly attractive. Thanks to you who supported this event.

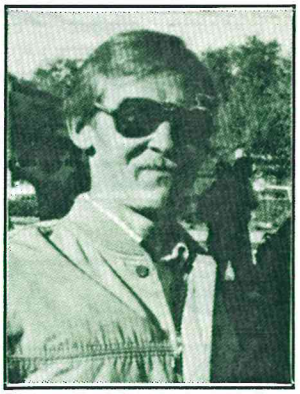
Message from Z President

by Larry Hutfles



You, no doubt, have seen that Goodman is getting out of the Nissan Dealership business but will continue to sell Buick and GMC trucks. I wish Ron Goodman and his staff well in their pursuits.

After reading an article about a huge car show and "cruise what you brung", held in St. Ignace, Michigan every year, plus having just returned from the Z Car National Convention, I was reminded that stock or modified Z cars look good either way. I guess this makes me an enthusiast, I'll accept that! In the article about St. Ignace, one of the more famous custom rod builders made a statement that I thought you might enjoy.

He said "building a special interest vehicle can be immensely satisfying if you are willing to forgo a few luxuries, like money and companionship." While this may be a little far fetched, I certainly agree it can be immensely satisfying. As far as giving up a few luxuries, I also concur. As you know, I don't drive a very new or luxurious car for daily transportation. Receiving recognition for a job well done and being presented with the "Peoples Choice Award" at the National Convention made it all worthwhile for me.

I am now at the stage where I'm ready to start all over again. Of course, in order to have the money for my next project I must, alas, sell the Boysenberry Z. One thing is certain, I'll document my next project a lot better. I hate to see the ZZZZZZ go! Maybe it won't. Tune in at a later date to find out.....

"SPLINTERS FROM THE BOARD"

This is an article written by a different board member each month. It does not necessarily contain the views expressed by the board as a whole. This month's article is submitted by our Vice President, Gary Bracken.

✡ ✡ ✡ ✡ ✡ ✡

My two-year stint as Vice President and a member of the ZCCC Board of Directors is nearly over. Reflecting back on that very quick 21 or so months, many positive images come to mind: working with caring and committed ZCCC members and officers to put together events and programs of interest (we hoped) to most of our roughly 140 members; worrying about whether the required 25 would show up to handle the Channel 6 telephone bank for their membership drive (then wondering why I doubted when all 25 arrived); gazing in awe at the unparalleled beauty of Colorado's majestic mountains, streams, and valleys on route to the Durango Tri-State Z Fest in my 240 Z; experiencing the G forces and accompanying adrenalin rush on the Malibu Grand Prix course and at Mead and Second Creek Raceways; watching in silent gratitude and respect as 20 Z cars prepared by our members were on display at the first annual sports car concours to benefit the Make-A-Wish Foundation (after almost 2 years of planning); meeting and getting to know Z enthusiasts from around the U.S. and Canada at the 5th Annual Z Car Convention.

If you are dissatisfied with the way things are going, or have gone, this is your opportunity to work with others to make those changes. So much for politics.

September is "vote those rascals out" month. Why not surprise yourself, and us too, by allowing your name to be placed in nomination for an office. Oh, by the way, you will only have to suffer through one more article written by me filling this space. According to the Constitution and By-Laws of the Z Car Club of Colorado you must elect a new Editor to take my place - who is it going to be? Perhaps..... you?

My only regret is that I didn't get to know everyone in the club. I hope the soon-to-be-elected Board members for next year will find some creative ways to meet the needs of a larger percentage of our membership, thereby facilitating greater participation in club events. In the meantime, I hope to see all of you at the Annual Banquet on October 10th.

Secretary's Report

by Sandy Fletcher

August 12, 1992

Larry opened the meeting by introducing new members and guests.

A motion was made to dispense with the reading of the minutes.

Debbie Kotar read the treasurer's report.

C.O.S.C.O. representatives thanked the Z Car Club for their participation in their first event.

Art Klien took first place in the judging for Z Cars.

Larry and Gary Bracken discussed the National Convention. Eight members attended. Larry was selected as coordinator for the United States and promised that there would be some changes.

It was announced that the next Annual Convention will be held in St. Louis, Missouri, from July 21st through 25th. 1994's convention will be in San Diego, California. The 1995 site will be voted on next year. Each club wishing to be considered must make a presentation outlining what they plan to do to make it a success. Larry stated that we would be involved in that process.

Larry announced that because of his newfound responsibilities he will not run for any office this year.

He also announced that the December monthly meeting will be held the first Wednesday (the 2nd) to help our hosts, Govnr's Park, accommodate their Christmas parties.

Gary Bracken reminded us that the Shine 'N Show was upcoming as well as racing at Second Creek and later at the Gran Prix track.

He also spoke about the Steamboat Vintage Car Races over the Labor Day weekend.

Eva Noworytta thanked members on behalf of C.O.S.C.O. and offered tee shirts at special rates.

Members were reminded that the Shine & Show started with judging at Perkins restaurant at 88th and Sheridan. Prizes to be awarded in Estes Park.

Larry reminded everyone of the elections to be held next month.

Ben Millspaugh showed a video of the event at Southwest Plaza.

A 50/50 was held. Bob Smith was the big winner of $52.50. The club received a like amount. The meeting was adjourned.

National Convention

by Gary Bracken

The Smoky Mountain Z Car Club hosted the 5th Annual Z Car Convention in picturesque Knoxville TN July 22-26, 1992. Incorrigible ZCCC members Bob and Debbie Carlson, Doug Hartmann, Bob Rosenthal, Brian Sydnes, Larry Hutfles, and Gary Bracken drove nearly 3000 miles (round trip) to attend, and none were disappointed.

A tour and rallye in the beautiful Smokeys, a hotly contested autocross, a riverboat cruise and dinner, vendors and technical seminars, and an incredible concours event made the convention an indelible happening in the lives of every attending Z lover. Taking top honors in the car show with his inimitable burgundy 240 Z was current ZCCC President Larry Hutfles with 1st Place trophies for Best Interior, Best Engine, and (drum roll, please) People's Choice!

Larry's recognition did not stop there, however. He was also elected national Coordinator for the Z Car Club Association. Larry has promised to tell us what his new job entails in a future Odometer article.

The final highlight of the convention was the terrific awards banquet on Saturday evening. Keynote speaker Dr. Ben Millspaugh (yes, our Ben Millspaugh) flew in and delivered a dynamite message that drew a standing ovation. Ben was also presented with an engraved plaque honoring him for his singular contributions (two full-color books, support and speeches to international Z conventions in England and [soon] Australia) to enhancing the reputation of Datsun/Nissan Z automobiles around the world.

Best of all, of course, was meeting so many genuinely nice people who share a common interest in Zs. This was my first convention since the original hosted by our club in 1988 at Aspen, Colorado. Now I can't imagine why I waited so long to attend another. Won't you join me in St. Louis for the 6th annual next year July 21 to 25? If you do, I promise you a vacation you'll always treasure!

Tech Tips

You like to go fast. Not just factory fast; I'm talking nailed to the seat, squeeze the breath out of your chest, racing. I know you're out there and have the tickets to prove it. Chances are, you fixed up an older car that has no warranty.

For the sake of dreaming, what if you had enough money to buy a new 300ZX Turbo and you wanted a ride that took no prisoners. You do the homework and find out that aftermarket exhausts, better suspension, electronic limiter ship replacements, bigger turbos and intercooler, are going to add another 100 horse, and that's just the beginning. You haven't even started on the real engine work like porting and hot cams.

Now, say you have a slight problem with your mass air flow sensor and the dealer says "Sorry, that exhaust system isn't factory, so we can't honor your warranty." Can they do that? NO! At least maybe no. Your rights start with the constitution — you know, the part where it says " We Z people...." It depends on whether your car can pass emissions (more about that later) and whether the exhaust system actually caused the part to fail and the dealer can prove it. On the other hand, if the part was defective or the manufacturer had a series of similar incidents, liability rests with the manufacturer.

OK, sounds reasonable but you are not a lawyer so how do you present your case? Your warranty probably just delineates the manufacturer's responsibility for parts and operation over time/distance. When you purchase your car however, the dealer has the implied obligation to provide you with a vehicle that fits within fixed standards of operation and quality. You won't find that written down in your warranty. It is found in the Magnuson Moss Warrantee Act of 1987.

Well, does an aftermarket product automatically invalidate a warranty? Again the answer is a simple "no", but the legal basis for that statement is harder to track down. It makes sense that adding a window grill won't affect your air conditioner warranty, but if that hot turbo just cooked your engine, don't come crying to me or the dealer.

So who handles disputes where you believe the part could not have been damaged by your aftermarket product? The place to start is the Federal Trade Commission. Give them a call, you do pay taxes. Their number is: (202) 326-3128. If you think that your new pipes help your car run cleaner with less back pressure, so any problem with the mass air sensor or the light indicating failure probably did not come from your add-on.

Assuming your vehicle tested out fine under the guidelines of the Clean Air Act, you have lived up to your end of the law and if the dealer cannot prove your part caused the failure, its existence is not grounds for warranty denial. Check with the EPA at: (202) 382-2640.

This scenario was written by Steve Fox, who condensed ideas presented in an article from TURBO & HI-TECH PERFORMANCE, Sept., 1992. The original research was done by SEMA, {Specialty Equipment Market Association located at 1575 So. Valley Vista Drive, Diamond Bar, CA 91765, (714)396-0289}. If you think a part may be a problem, call these people first!

Out & Out Theft

by Steve Fox

In the June 19th issue of the Denver Post Wheels\Classified appeared the following article unabashedly stolen because of its value to our readers.

Bookstore Caters to Car Fanatics

By John Eaton

The shiny, but road-worn 1927 Bugatti sits proudly in a place of honor in the store, a car that has survived the grind of many of the world's major racing and rally contests.

Surrounding it are thousands of periodicals — books and magazines on such rarities as the Allard sports car, the Vincent Motorcycle, hot rods, shop manuals on all sorts of vehicles, including those aging and rusting tractors hidden by weeds on farms.

In brief, there are books on everything that rolls down the road or field.

It's a new store — at 5102 S. Broadway — that caters to the whims of all sorts of car or vehicle "nuts." Reminder: you have to be pumping a little oil to even want a shop manual on a 1949 John Deere two-banger.

This is Colorado Car Books. It is the project of Neal East, a former manager of the Autobooks, Etc. bookshop in Burbank, Calif., which for years has been a mother lode of printed matter for car buffs.

East reasons that if it worked in California, it should work here. So East and his wife Kay, packed up, fled California and opened the store a few steps from Belleview on the north end of the Brookridge Shopping Center. Don't visit it unless you have spare time.

The walls are decorated by car art by local artists Mike Mate and Darrell Mayabb. Showcases are filled with prebuilt model cars. There are new, used and out-of-print books on virtually every popular car built during this century.

Other specialty books delve into the restoration tricks of various vehicles. How about a book on auto mathematics? Or hot-rodding history? Or technical how-to manuals? Want a shop manual on a 1951 Kaiser? The list goes on.

Complimenting this elaborate display of books and manuals is a growing section of old car magazines. East continually buys these aging publications to embellish his stock.

There are bulletin boards for posting local car activities and also for sale and wanted items.

And not only will the store continue to draw customers because of changing stock and bulletin board content, but the spotlighted car — such as the magnificent Bugatti currently shown, owned by a local collector — will be replaced at regular intervals by other vehicles of interest.
